

Amid the forests waving branches we catch quite often pretty glances As the brook flashes in the light
And squirrels come within our sight

